Reading Part 1

Read the text. Use the sentences labelled (A – H) to complete the text. Write the letter of the missing sentence in the box in the correct gap. There are two extra sentences you will not need.

Dogs help people get well

Joanne Gray is a nurse. Often her patients are people who have now returned home from hospital but are not ready to go back to work. She also spends a lot of her time visiting people still in hospital. 1.

They look forward to seeing her, especially because she doesn't go alone. She takes her dog, Bertie, with her. Joanne says that Bertie makes her patients feel better.

Bertie started going to work with Joanne four years ago and she is sure that he has made a real difference. 'Bertie is brilliant with people', she says. 'For example, he helps patients who cannot use their arms very well. 2.

He can also help patients who are very nervous or depressed. They tell me they feel calmer and happier when he is with them.'

Joanne realised several years ago how much her patients enjoyed seeing an animal. 'I used to have a cat that I took with me sometimes on my visits. My patients always asked me about him and all said they loved seeing him. 3. It's easier to take a dog to see someone.'

Research shows that pets can reduce stress and help people get better more quickly from all sorts of illnesses. 4. For instance, one man in hospital didn't want to talk to anyone but he spoke to Bertie. He told him he hated the hospital food and didn't like the people in the beds next to him. So the hospital were then able to get him the food he liked. 5.

Not all dogs are suitable for visiting sick people. Some dogs are afraid of people they don't know. 6.

But the right dog really can help people get better.

- A. Joanne can give lots of examples of this.
- B. That's why I got Bertie.
- C. There are many other dogs like Bertie.
- D. They want to touch him and this makes them try harder to move their arms.
- E. Joanne's visits are very important to all her patients.
- F. Others are too friendly.
- G. Of course, not everyone likes dogs.
- H. They also arranged to move him to a different bed.

Dear Cheryl

I said I would write and give you a contact to whom you can send your job application. John Abadiah became the Product Manager for Smithson Computing at the beginning of this month. If you write direct to him, I am sure he will try and help you.

You don't need to mention where you got his name from - in fact, he's my uncle! However, that does not guarantee you the job!

Good luck!
Best wishes
Pat

Reading Part 4

Read the text and answer the questions below with no more than three words. The first one is done for you.

Monopoly – the world’s best-selling game

Today, it’s the best-selling board game in the world. It is available in 80 different countries and in 26 different languages. People of all ages play the game. But where did Monopoly come from? How did it start?

In 1934, an American called Charles Darrow showed his ‘Monopoly Game’ to the bosses at Parker Brothers, a company which manufactured games. Unfortunately, they refused to manufacture it because of design problems. However, Mr Darrow didn’t give up.

With the help of a friend who was a printer, Mr Darrow made 5,000 sets of the game and sold them to a local shop. People loved it! He couldn’t make the games quickly enough, so he went back to Parker Brothers and they agreed to make the game. In its first year, 1935, it was the best-selling game in America. Since then, an estimated 500 million people around the world have enjoyed playing it. Parker Brothers have sold more than 200 million games world-wide.

The game can last for a long time, but the longest game ever played lasted 1,680 hours – that’s 70 days! People have also played in some unusual places. The longest game to take place in a bath lasted 99 hours and the longest game underwater went on for 45 days.

Of course, most games take place using a normal-sized board. But not everyone is satisfied with that. The biggest outdoor game ever played used a game board 300 metres by 220 metres. The biggest game to take place inside used a board 35 metres square.

Since 1935, the makers have made very few changes to the excellent design of the first board. It is almost the same now as when Mr Darrow first invented the game.

Parker Brothers have made many other games but none has been as popular as Monopoly. The company is certainly very pleased that Charles Darrow asked them to produce the world’s favourite board game.

Writing Part 1

Read the text and circle each mistake. Write the correction at the end of the line. The first three lines are examples. There are two more spelling mistakes, three more punctuation mistakes and three more grammar mistakes. Some lines have no mistakes; they have no spaces for answers.

Dear Carl	... Carl
I hope you had a good journey home. It was great to see you. I'd love	... had to visit you in Australia but I know the air fare is too expensive, guess what, you left three CDs here. I'll post them to you just as soon as I can.
Do you remember Patrick what lives in the house next door?
Yesterday I went to his wedding. It was lovely. The wether was good.
After the marriage ceremony there were some delicious food and then we danced all night and I'm really to tired to do much today.
Have you read the book I gave you. I hope you liked it. Cole is my favourite author.
Well, I must going now. Please write soon and tell me all your news.
Love to you all and ask sandra to write to me soon too.
